Reza Saberi, author, poet, translator, and philosopher, will be reading some mystical poems from various poets he has translated and will comment on their hidden meanings.

Saberi has published four books on poetry and a number of other books on different subjects. He has often lectured on spirituality, transcendence, mysticism, and existence.

Persian Literature has more than a thousand-year-old treasury of excellent poetry. The Irano-Islamic mysticism, called Sufism, enriches most of the great poems in the Persian Language.
